General, July 10.—Many leading Swiss hotels are exhibiting notices prohibiting "American" dances, such as the turkey trot and the Bunny Hug, on account of complaints by others that the Anglo-American visitors who use them are noisy and disorderly.

Several unpleasant scenes have happened in the ball rooms of hotels. An Austrian officer, seeing his daughter dancing the turkey trot with a young American soldier, smothered her away from her partner, to whom he presented the card, sending seconds for a duel. The dancing marriage.

FIRST ORANGEMEN'S CELEBRATION

The first observance of this date as Orangemen's Day was in 1796, the first year after the 1795 battle of the Diamond at Armagh late in the previous year. The organization of the Orange Protestants resulted from what was the first year of the Orange Society, based at Diamond, a hamlet in Armagh, north Ireland, in 1795, between the "Peep-o'-Day Boys" and the "Orangemen." Many of the latter were killed. To commemorate this conflict the Orange Lodge was formed soon afterward, and the date of the battle of the Diamond, as an annual holiday. The "halls" were built in 1800, and the Orange Order was a Catholic and a Presbyterian at Market Hill in July, 1784. Each was headed by a large body of friends, and the "Peep-o'-Day Boys" and the "Orangemen" distinguished as "Defenders" and "Peep-o'-Day Boys." The latter were so called because they usually came far from friendly visits to the homes of the Defenders just before

HIGHLY PLEASED WITH WORK AT THE CITY FARM

Commissioners Harrison and McLean Declare Superintendent is Doing Excellently

SALVATION TO HELP CARE FOR THE MEN

Plan is to Look After Them After They are Discharged and Help Assist them to Find Employment.

A trip of inspection to the city farm was made yesterday afternoon by Commissioners Harrison and McLean, and Superintendent E. B. Black. They were very enthusiastic over what they call the first-class work that is being done by Superintendent "Lions," who is in charge of the farm.

On the way out the commissioners looked over the proposed habit hill water site. The distance to this place is about seven and a half miles. The city farm lies some four miles beyond the commissioners' inspected the whole farm and took note of every piece of work that is being done with the superintendent. He estimates that the yield from the field of oats this year will be 2,500 bushels. The three acres planted in potatoes are expected year will be 2,500 bushels. The three crops may be taken care of when harvested, the men are now at work building a root house and granary. The work on these is being done with concrete, as this method is cheaper than if lumber were used. There is an abundance of good sand and gravel in an island along the river bank. This is hauled up to the farm, where the concrete work is done by the men out from the police department. In this method of construction, only the cement must be purchased.

Making Use of Concrete.

A very comfortable bunk house has been finished for the men. It is provided with a concrete floor and has been furnished with good, comfortable iron stretchers.

A sewerage system is being put in from the house to the river bank. When this is completed it will be possible to get the farm buildings in a condition quite as sanitary as if they were in the city. The kitchen and dining rooms adjoining are kept in first-class order, and the men are supplied with good, wholesome food.

Although two guards are kept at the farm, the superintendent informed the commissioners that he has very little trouble with the men who have thus far been sent out. There is no attempt made to attempt them in any way, and by using them well it is possible to get them to work right along when they are able to do manual labor.

At the present time, there are about a dozen prisoners at the farm. The records of the superintendent show that 78 men have been sent out to the farm, and none of them have escaped.

Problem of Later Care.
The commissioners discussed with the superintendent the problem of caring for these men after they leave the city farm. The work they do here, and the good food they receive act as tonic in preparing them for some useful occupation after they are discharged.

Unfortunately, at the present time, there is no connecting link whereby these men may be looked after for a few days at least after leaving the farm, with the result that many of them are almost sure to get in the hands of the law again for various offences. Since they have no money the temptation to steal is very great if they are not successful in securing a job soon after reaching the city.

The plan now in contemplation by the Salvation Army was taken up and its merits discussed. It appears to be the best solution at the present time. The Army proposes building a shelter on their Fraser avenue property, purchased from the city some time ago. When they get the shelter ready they will then keep in touch with the superintendent of the farm, and when men are discharged they will look after them.

If necessary they will be given some work to do in order to earn a few dollars to put them on their feet. By looking after these men in this way the missing link which is so necessary will be supplied, and the city farm will prove to be one of the best institutions of the city.

In a few years, when the stock increases and other suitable buildings have been erected, it is quite possible that enough stock and sufficient crops will be raised to make the farm self-supporting. The superintendent will work with this end in view.

South Side News

A special meeting of the Ladies' Aid of the Strathcona hospital will be held tomorrow afternoon. The society desires to express its gratitude to all persons who assisted in making the hospital lay day the great success which it proved.

The house of W. J. Sutherland, a farmer in the Robb's hills district, was broken into, while the owner was absent at a picnic, and $50 in cash and miscellaneous articles stolen. The burglary was not discovered until several days after it took place, it being only when Mr. Sutherland went to his home that he learned of the loss.

The annual picnic in connection with the Strathcona hospital will be held at the Strathcona school on Friday afternoon. In the event of rain, the picnic will be held tomorrow.

BIG BOOK RUSH IS SURPRISE
Capital Astonishes Eastern
"Show Me" Man—Calls Remarkable.
"There ain't no such animal." "That's what the farmer said when he saw his first circus giraffe, and that is practically what eastern publishers have been saying about the record-breaking run upon the Capital's book bank. It has been almost impossible to meet the demand, so great have been the throngs upon the Capital's banked-up store of Webster's New Illustrated Dictionary created by our readers' insatiable craving for knowledge nearly bound in black limp leather. Six consecutive coupons from the Capital and a small bonus secures a book. "What's coming off in Edmonton?" "That has been the latest exclamation going the rounds of the publication world as wire after wire carried the book of the month for dictionary, and the demands for more books faster than the publishers could readily supply the one who is responsible for the creation of the volume, who has set the motto DICTIONARY DAFNY, hurried into town to "see what was up." "UNBELIEVABLE!" was the word he used when he saw the DICTIONARY DEPARTMENT almost depleted of its store of volumes. He was shown a great emptying stereos and the crowd of eager, intelligent purchasers below, and he became convinced.

BOSS
"Now is the time to pitch in and achieve—now, now!" said Norman Hapsod, the new owner of Harper's Weekly, in a political address in New York. "Remember my friends," said Mr. Hapsod, "the present is the future from which you hoped so much."

Even Chinese Ladies Can't Resist the Sheath Skirt

They Are Affected by Parisian Fashions More and More Every Year—Merry Lot Who Are Hospitable, But Have Never Learned to Entertain Informally.

Mostly the only Chinese women you know are pained figures on a tea party, dainty little creatures, an almost oiled artist, to be forever acquiescing in the midst of your best china cups, with their dainty fans just so, and their kimono (purplish black with chrysanthemums smudged in with gold) tucked neatly over their knees. Or perhaps you have met the pleasant adventure of meeting the Canadian wife of a Chinese merchant. You met her in the half dusk of her husband's shop, and so quiet she was as she sat in the big, black carved chair with dragon arms, against a background of gorgeously colored kimono, that she seemed like a statue made to live from ivory, and her face was like some cream coloured flower in the early dusk.

Picture a lady, and a real lady; they were fascinating little creatures, so fascinating that perhaps you wished that some day, when your ship came in, you might sail away to a city full of real Chinese ladies.

And then came to the town to visit the wife of a minister stationed at Chefoo, Mrs. Corbett. Mrs. Corbett has been twenty-five years in the town of Chefoo, which is directly across from Port Arthur in Manchuria. Chefoo is a seaport town, a great, grey huddling mass close to the water's edge. Always in time of trouble, like in the boxer uprising and during the more recent revolution, it has been a place of refuge under the very shadow of the gunboats of the disaffected nations.

Lonesome for China

It seems strange to hear an Englishwoman say that she is lonesome for China, and yet that is exactly the kind of lonesomeness Mrs. Corbett confesses to.

"You see I've lived there such a long, long time that I look on it as home, and I get lonesome for it. It is so quiet here and so noisy here. We live on a hill in Chefoo, Temple Hill, which overlooks the town proper, and do you know that when it comes night time I want nothing so much as to lean out of the sitting room window and see the grey roofs of the houses below, and the sea beyond, and listen to the street sounds."

Of Temple Hill is the English school where the little Chinese boys and girls go to school, five hundred of them shuffling in every morning with their books tucked under their arms. Only the Canadian boys and girls, like these little boys and girls are such models of politeness that it doesn't seem possible that they can be really and truly flesh and blood children. Even at the school room, and they are immediately on their feet and bowing respectfully, without being told, and they aren't lonesome Sunday School children either. On the playground they are just as noisy and rough as any youngsters over here.

Down below the hill are the street scenes where the people herd together so closely that it is well nigh impossible to get any correct idea of the exact population of the town. And here is the queer, shallow stores where the Chinese merchants sell their wares, and chatter over their purchases.

Of Quaint Appearance

"They must look quaint," the writer asked Mrs. Corbett.

"They do." Most of the women still wear the long, loose trousers flared with a bright band at the foot, and the loose jacket. If it is in the morning the costume is made of dark blue cotton, and the band on the trousers is of some gay color. The cotton comes from the States, unbleached, the kind we call factory cotton, and the Chinese housewife dyes it a pretty dark blue and makes her summer and winter every day garments from it. What is cold weather she wads it with more cotton, and if she is a very chilly little body she wears sheepskin lined garments."

In Shanghai and the larger cities, the women wear the most exquisite silks imaginable, gorgeous flowers on delicately colored backgrounds. Some of them have adopted European fashions and wear costumes designed in the great Paris shops, but mostly you see them, pressed in luxurious touring cars, wearing the graceful, airy dress that the Chinese women have worn for centuries.

"And the fashions never change. That must be a rare few land. No worrying whether the coat you bought this spring is going to do next."

"But the fashions do change, even in Chefoo, and the Chefoo women are not half so progressive as the women of the south. When I first went to China the women were wearing long bell-shaped sleeves on their coats, and now their sleeves are just as tight as ours and they have taken to wearing Robespierre collars like those that were fashionable this spring."

Especially in South

In the big southern cities you see more clearly the influence of European fashion on the Chinese costume. Even the ladies who have steadfastly refused to wear Parisian frocks have their skirts made almost as skimpy as a fashionable European. The sheath has invaded China.

In Chefoo, Mrs. Corbett, black and white and pearl grey are the fashionable colors in Chefoo. Even the style of head dress has changed. Twenty-five years ago the Chinese maiden parted her hair demurely down the middle and brought it smoothly down over her ears. Today she is doing it in a perky pompadour in front and behind in a manner that is very suspiciously like the ancient rolls worn by the women of the south. Very few of the Chinese women wear hats, caps with shiny peaks like the small brothers' wigs.

The Chinese women of the better class are wonderfully graceful and wonderfully exquisite. Just to watch them enter and leave a room is an education, and they are the merriest little bodies imaginable, so Mrs. Corbett says. Often she asks them in to have a cup of tea with her in the English fashion, and they chatter like magpies about their babies, about the price of things, about each other's frocks, quite as glibly and handsomely as the tea boys of the world over.

"And you go to their homes?"

"Sometimes, but the Chinese women have not learned the art of informal entertainment. When they extend an invitation they insist on preparing a feast, sometimes of twenty courses, never less than sixteen, and they are delicious feasts. The Chinese housewives make the tastiest gasts."

BOY OF 5 UNIVERSITY STUDENT

Edward R. Hardy, Jr.

New York, July 10.—New York now claims to have within its limits the youngest university student in the world. He is Edward R. Hardy, Jr., the son of Professor Hardy, of New York university, where the little boy is a regularly entered student. The boy has already mastered four languages, English, French, German and Italian. It is the ambition of his parents to make him rector of Holy Trinity.

Feminist Movement Spreads

"And the feminist movement, has it spread?"

"Spread tremendously, particularly in the south. During the revolution 40 women marched from the south to Chefoo. They wore the same uniform as the Chinese soldiers and were carried here for a number of weeks before going to the front."

"In Chefoo the women are not so advanced, and I cannot imagine them forming themselves into such a regiment. We have still the old customs, the bride betrothed in babyhood an dower seeing her future husband until the day of the wedding. All the Chinese brides live in the home of their mother-in-laws, and I have known as many as six sons to bring their brides to the one house. The mother-in-law is absolute ruler of the household. If she is kindly all is well. If she is a bad temper, the poor little bride has a hard time of it, and some of them grow so desperate that they do away with themselves, but in the main they are happy. It is their life, and when it is their life is a custom it usually is bearable."

LALUMIERE FINALLY IS TAKEN INTO CUSTODY

He Has Been Bought on a Charge of Attempting to Extort Money From Hon. Louis Dore.

Montreal, July 10.—Ella Lalumiere, wanted on a charge of attempting to extort money from the Hon. Louis Dore, secretary of state in the by-election in Quebec last September, and on a charge of perjury, was arrested yesterday.

Lalumiere, who ran away with "Joe" Bourassa after the warrant had been issued for his arrest, managed to elude the police for several months. Bourassa is still at large. Lalumiere rendered assistance in both charges and had been fixed at $8,000.

MUSICAL LASSIES FOR THE PANTAGES

Young Women Play All Sorts of Instruments Are Considered to Be Very Clever.

The Pantages next week has a bill handsomely equipped since the Edmonton house announced the management of the Five Musical Lassies for whom such a demand was made in the United States, and on account of Mr. Pantages offering the largest salary joined his circuit. The Lassies play all sorts of musical instruments and are very clever.

For the added attraction Manager Gil will present The Rondos Trio, who will be seen in a novelty bicycle act. The Four Victors are sensational acrobats. Brecker and Adams have a singing, dancing and talking act while Harry Thirford is well-known as a clever ventriloquist.

and Toronto, will face the barrier and these teams will be composed of the strongest quarter mile runners in America, all of whom have reeled off the 440 yards in about 50 seconds or better. The likely starters, with the best time they have showed for the quarter, are as follows:

Boston—Caldwell, 40 2-5 secs.; Robinson, 48 3-5 secs.; Mares, 50 secs.; Halpin, 49 secs.

New York—Rosenherber, 49 4-5 secs.; Sheppard, 50 secs.; Poppy, 49 secs.; Kiviat, 50 secs.

"FINE FEATHERS" IN CITY TONIGHT

In This Play Appear the Leading Actors of the Whole Dramatic World

Although the people of Western Canada have recently been shown the very best of American dramatic productions, they are to have the treat of a lifetime in the forthcoming visit of "Fine Feathers," the dramatic triumph of the New York season, with its original cast of prominent stars.

The attraction comes to the Empire theatre tonight almost direct from New York, where it closed a remarkable run at the Astor theatre a few weeks ago. Even New York and Chicago, accustomed as they are to the best dramatic theatricals, had to sit up and take particular notice of this brilliant array of stars in a single cast. For in "Fine Feathers" appear such foremost players as Robert Edison, the idol of New York and London; Wilton Lackaye, who has created the English speaking stage for so many years; Rose Coghlan, England's most famous actress, whom America has adopted for its own; Max Plegman, without an equal in his finished portrayals; Lolita Robertson, a star with youth, beauty and genius; and Amelia Summers, New York's most famous comedy star. This is indeed a wonderful cast in a very suitable play.

SPORTOGRAPHY

CHINESE ARE NOW TAKING UP THE BOXING GAME.

Having adopted a republican form of government and manifested a disposition to embrace Christianity, the Chinese are not content to rest on their laurels. They are apparently determined to be civilized alike as well before they quit. One manifestation of this laudable ambition is a vastly increased consumption of beer by the Chinks since they cut off their quantities. And now comes an English paper published in Hong Kong which declares that the Orientals are taking up the boxing game with wild enthusiasm, and are preparing to develop a "yellow rope" capable of felling all the white and black champions of Europe and America. A Chinese heavyweight champion of the world—wouldn't that give you a pain in the stomach? And yet, who knows?

The city hall in Hong Kong is the center of Chinese boxing activity, and bouts are pulled off nearly every week. At first the contestants were all sailors from the British vessels in that port, but of late the natives have demanded to sit in the game. Up to date—or to the date of the Hong Kong paper—the Orientals had not shown anything wonderful in the ring, but they are said to be constantly improving. Out of China's teeming population there may be found some giant-sized, flat able, under proper instruction, to put a crimp in all the white ropes. In the interior of China there are many men of giant stature and undoubted bravery and hardihood, and several of them have been induced to go to Hong Kong and take lessons in the "manly art." In the hundreds of athletic clubs that have sprung up in all Chinese cities within the last few years, boxing is now one of the favorite sports.

The Japanese haven't taken very kindly to boxing, but they are all wrestling fans, and for their size, and of their own style of the mat game, the little brown men have no superiors. Very few Oriental boxers have been seen in American rings. Young Japo, a Japanese lightweight, made something of a reputation in the South and West a year or two ago, but has dropped out of sight. Sing Hosen, who has defeated a number of fairly good men at shows in Oregon and Idaho during the last year, has the distinction of being the only Chinese boxer of any worth in America. Sing may be the advance agent of a horde of yellow boxers who will whip the world and annex all the pugilistic titles. In the meantime, however, we should worry.

CRICKET GAMES RESULTS

London, July 10.—Following are the results of county cricket matches started Monday and concluded yesterday, one of which is a draw:

Northamptonshire scored a brilliant victory over Yorkshire at Leeds when they defeated the Tykes in one of the closest and most exciting games of the season by 59 runs. Yorkshire, with five wickets down, needed but 57 runs to win, but were only able to complete the last five wickets. Thompson (G. J.) proved to be the downfall of the Yorkshire willow widders, taking 15 wickets in the second innings for 76 runs.

Lancashire on their home grounds at Manchester went to defeat to Surrey, losing out by 108 runs. Surrey for Surrey achieved great success with the ball, capturing six wickets for 38 runs.

Kent decisively vanquished Warwickshire at Birmingham by an innings and 61 runs.

The Sussex-Leicestershire match at Brighton was drawn on account of rain.

Blinding Headaches From Catarrhal Irritation Now Quickly Cured

THE NEW INHALER BREATHING TREATMENT DOES AWAY WITH ALL THIS SORT OF THING

"A stuffy cold in the head, or an old-fashioned attack of catarrh are simply ancient history to me nowadays," writes S. Nathan Smith, from Cornwall, Ont. "I used to have the worst kind of blinding headaches. They were torture to me on damp days when my catarrh was bad. I would still perhaps be suffering for the fact that I saw a friend inhaling Catarrh-ozone with apparent pleasure, and I got the dollar outfit in the Windsor Hotel Pharmacy in Montreal. I could scarcely believe the way Catarrh-ozone cleared out my head. It let me breathe easier than I had breathed for five years. Catarrh-ozone has cleared away every vestige of Catarrh from my system. My breath used to be rank—now it is sweet. My digestion was constantly disordered, but since the catarrh is cured, I have no stomach trouble. I am a perfectly well man, and Catarrh-ozone did it all."

For speakers and singers and persons troubled with an irritable throat, bronchitis, asthma, catarrh or the grippe, Catarrh-ozone is of inestimable value. The inhaler can be carried in your pocket and may be used at any time or in any place.

Large size, guaranteed and sufficient for 2 months' use, costs $1; smaller size, 50c; sample size 20c; all stockholders and druggists or The Catarrh-ozone Co., Buffalo, N. Y., and Kingston, Canada.

ROYALTY IN COURT OVER FIFE ESTATE

Mother and Daughter Take Unusual Course of Airing Their Differences.

London, July 10.—It is not often that members of the royal family have recourse to the high courts to settle private difficulties, so at present there is much comment in a small social circle which is circulating the facts concerning the differences between the Princess Royal and the Duchess of Fife, royal mother and daughter, who are engaged in litigation in the high courts here concerning the property and estates of the late Duke of Fife.

Much secrecy has been adopted in the proceedings, over which Justice Neville is presiding in his chambers, which is equivalent to in camera. Neither the press nor the public is allowed admission.

ROMANCE SPOILED BY MAN'S ARREST

Irate Uncle and the Telegraph Combine to Prevent Mar- riage Taking Place

On the arrival of the steamer "Norland Sun" at Abbeville, E. A. Duffy, of Grouard, was taken in charge by the mounted police, acting on information received from Oliver Traven, of Grouard, with whose niece, Edeline McNeill, he was accused of having eloped. The couple left Grouard and were to have been married at the luncheon, but late in the shape of an irate uncle, aided by the telegraph, prevented the marriage. Miss McNeill is only 17 years of age, while Duffy, who is a prominent contractor at Grouard, is several years her senior.

A well-known realty man of this city, who had come down on the steamer with them, succeeded in bullying out Mr. Duffy, who is awaiting further word from Mr. Traven.

of the Royal Edward, which arrived yesterday, was Mrs. Mary Brown, 81 years old, of Kent, England. She is on her bustling way to Victoria, B.C., to get married, her husband being 10 years her junior.

Until this trip on the Royal Edward Mrs. Brown had never seen a steamship and in fact, had never left her home town. She has for the last 10 years lived on the same floor, and taken by the night watchman to repair the damage done by the water, and by the time the offices in the building opened for business practically all signs of the inundation which the premises had undergone had been removed.

day, when the Canadians began their second match of their play. The local players scored 372 runs for a loss of seven wickets before play was stopped for the day. R. Henderson and W. S.

had scored 108 runs, and the latter 118. R. S. Cameron, who was bowling

SPORTOGRAPHY

HARRY WOLTER, YANKEE OUTFIELDER, 27 TODAY.
Harry Wolter, the star outfielder of the New York Americans, is like his chief, a native son of the Golden West.
Wolter was born in Monterey, Cal.,
twenty-seven years ago today, July 11, 1886. He played half three years on the Santa Clara College team, from which Hal Chase was an earlier graduate. His professional debut was with Fresno, almost as the "rain city" and the birthplace of "Peetie Leader" Chase, and also at one time the home of "Big Chief" Meyers.
After a year in the Pacific Coast League, Wolter was promoted to first company, but didn't make good. The Pittsburgh Pirates first gave him a trial, and turned him over to Cincinnati.
The Reds decided they could get along without him, and Wolter then went to St. Louis. The Cardinals didn't want him, and gave him to St. Paul. At this point Harry developed homesickness in an acute form, and hiked back to California, refusing to report in the Minnesota capital. In 1909 he played with San Jose in the California State League, an outlaw organization. There he made such a good record that the Boston Red Sox brought about his restatement, and Wolter, after paying a $50 fine, found himself back in fast company, but this time in the American League. During the 1909 season he with the Red Sox Wolter was tried out as a pitcher and at the infield bag, but wasn't highly successful. When he went to the Yankees in 1910 he was sent to the right garden, and as an outfielder was a star almost from the first.
An injury to his leg put him out of the game nearly all of last season. During the winter he played with a Coast team, and returned to the Yankees this spring apparently as fast as ever.

A remarkable similarity exists between the careers of Wolter and Hal Chase. Both were born in the western part of central California, both were educated at Santa Clara College, both played in the Pacific Coast League before going into the majors, both jumped to California State outlaw league in 1908, and both became famous as members of the New York Americans.
Wolter is five feet ten and a half inches in height, and weighs, in condition, about 170 pounds. He uses his

WILL GIVE UP GHOST

Ottawa, July 10.—The Ottawa
Amateur Athletic club, which has produced many great athletes, is to be closed up. For years the club has been up against it financially, and the directors have finally decided to close up the books and sell the building, for which several offers have been received. After all outstanding debts have been paid the directors will divide what remains.
Fifteen or twenty years ago the O. A.
A. C. had a membership of over 1000, among them cycling, lacrosse, baseball and all other branches of outdoor sport.
Bourgeois. They made a fatal mistake in dropping out of lacrosse, football and other branches of athletics, with the result that it developed into a quiet institution and rapidly declined.
A meeting of the directors is to be held Monday, at which action will be taken. The ballists have been in several times, but on each occasion the members voted unanimously to pay no more.

WINDS WAS KEEPS

William M. Wood, the head of the woolen trust, said in Boston, apropos of the new tariff:
"It listens good, as the slang phrase goes, but will it listen good to the very end? Won't the end be a dismal surprise, like the tale of the lost coat?"
"A country minister, driving to church with his new overcoat on the seat behind him, lost the coat on route, and announced his loss from the pulpit.
" 'Dear beloved,' he said, 'I met with a sad loss this morning. Somewhere on the River road, while driving to church, I lost my fine, new, silk-lined overcoat. If any of you find it, I hope you'll bring it to the parsonage.'
" 'It's found, doctor,' said a voice from the back of the church.
" 'Bless you, my friend! Heaven bless you!' said the minister, beaming on the speaker gratefully.
" 'It's found, dr?' continued the voice. 'I came along the River road just after you, and it wasn't there.'"

POLICE COURT

Get Order to Marry.—It seldom happens that one is told by the court to be married before the sun sets, but this happened to S. Dostaler this morning. He had made a promise to marry Fanny Young and he had just forgotten to do so. Inspector Haven gave him until 5 o'clock this evening in which to hustle out, and get the band of gold and the license, and he was not slow in going.

Opium Smoker Fined.—Elias Wilson appeared before Inspector Haven on an opium charge and it cost him $10 and costs for his few hours seductive sleep.

Many Thirsty Fined.—Yesterday being very warm, more than the ordinary number of men with dry throats and heavy heads faced the magistrate today. Some 20 odd, which is the largest number that have appeared in any one morning for a long time, were each fined in the sum of $4 and costs.

Zerk Ocho Dismissed.—The case against Sam Zerk, who the police held on a vagrancy charge until they could investigate the murder of the woman whom he had when picked up, was dismissed.

Forgot To Get License.—A. Brant runs the Arcade dance hall on Kingsline avenue, but he forgot to comply with the necessary regulations which require one who conducts a place of that nature to have a license, and so Tom McCallum brought him up this morning and he was forced to pay $10 and costs.

Looks Fored.—Pays Fine.—Sam Samsone felt that some of his friends had not just done what was right by him and he laid information against John, Mose and Harry Pully for not paying for goods they purchased from him. He was unable to prove his case, and so it cost him $3.20, the fees.

RECEPTION TONIGHT TO PAPAL DELEGATE

Cards Necessary for Those Who Would Be Present.—Ceremony at Jesuit College Tomorrow.

Everyone who intends to be present at the public reception to Mr. Stagni this evening in the Empire auditorium is asked to have his or her name printed or written on a visiting card. There will be addresses in French, English, German, Polish and Italian. Tomorrow afternoon, His Excellency will bless the new Jesuit college on Twenty-eighth street of which the Rev. Father Huron is rector. The college will open in September.

Tomorrow evening Mr. Stagni will be driven to St. Albert. On Sunday he will celebrate pontifical high mass at St. Albert and in the afternoon will return to Edmonton where he will assist at vespers in St. Joachim's church, afterwards blessing the cornerstone of the new church of the Sacred Heart on Kingsline avenue. Last evening the Catholic school children of the city gave an excellent concert in the Separate school hall in the delegate's honor. The hall was thronged. The concluding, His Excellency spoke to the children in French and English.
